Bringing people closer together through cultural cooperation and creative activities is at the heart of the European Cultural Foundation’s activities. Their independence allows them to take risks, do things differently, and work where others might not go.

[link] www.eurocult.org