

Date: 27 September 2012

Country: UK, London

Lapido Media will be launching a new book series “Handy Books for Journalists on Religion in World Affairs”

on Thursday 27th

of September at

Frontline Club

, Paddington. The first book of a new series is

Tablighi Jamaat

by Dr Zacharias Pieri who is a political sociologist with extensive ethnographic research experience of British Muslim communities.

Tablighi Jamaat, the world’s biggest Islamic revival movement, was founded in India in 1926 to purge the backslidden of British and Hindu influence.

“Now it is here in force in the West, bent on building a supermosque in east London, and preparing the faithful for paradise. Their separatist ethos and other-worldly purpose divide scholars and puzzle journalists”, says in the introduction of Lapid Media new book.

Tablighi Jamaat in Britain is based on two years observation in Newham.

The event at Frontline on 27th of September marks the fifth anniversary of the international religious literacy charity Lapid Media.