

Date: Summer-Autumn 2009

Region/Country: Morocco

A Moroccan Young Inclusive Journalists' Network has been formed following a training course in inclusive journalism organised by the Media Diversity Institute. The journalist's in the network will produce Radio & TV programmes and articles on diversity to be placed in the Moroccan media, and will use the network to discuss issues related to diversity and receive guidance from experienced journalists.

The training and network are part of MDI's 2-year programme designed to promote inclusive journalism in Morocco. Further training courses will be held in Casablanca and Tangiers. The programme is supported by the UK Embassy in Rabat.

For more info contact info@media-diversity.org