

Date: November 3 - 6, 2009.

Region/Country: Aarhus, Denmark

An interdisciplinary conference on climate change and intercultural values is to be held at Aarhus University in Denmark. Climate change requires concerted initiatives that cannot be motivated by practical self-interest and economy alone. The aim of the conference is to compare the concepts of ecological responsibility across cultures, and to explore intercultural values in order to develop new models of responsibility.

For more info, visit <http://www.globaldialogueconference.org/>