

Deadline: February 25, 2010

Region: Sub-Saharan Africa

Germany's International Institute for Journalism (IIJ) will host a ten-day training for journalists in West Africa titled "Media's Role in Conflict -- Transformation and Peace Building." Journalists from print media, news agencies, and online publications are welcome to apply.

The course will held April 19 to 30 in Accra, Ghana. The course is free, and applications should be submitted by February 25.

Please, check the following link to dowload the application form and for more information:

<http://tinyurl.com/yde9zqk>

'courtesy of the International Journalists' Network'