

www.waccglobal.org

Keywords: Western Europe, UK, English, Award, gender, religion, photograph, competition, global

The World Association for Christian Communication (WACC) is hosting the photo competition "Portraying Gender". Photojournalists and amateur photographers are invited to submit images that challenge conventional understanding of 'femininity' and 'masculinity'. 2009 year's theme is "portraying gender". Photographers are invited to submit photos that portray women or men in ways that offer new perceptions about their roles and responsibilities. Such photos challenge conventional understandings of 'femininity' and 'masculinity' and help break the mould of the male-female 'divide'.

The World Association for Christian Communication (WACC) is hosting the photo competition "Portraying Gender". Photojournalists and amateur photographers are invited to submit images that challenge conventional understanding of 'femininity' and 'masculinity'. 2009 year's theme is "portraying gender". Photographers are invited to submit photos that portray women or men in ways that offer new perceptions about their roles and responsibilities. Such photos challenge conventional understandings of 'femininity' and 'masculinity' and help break the mould of the male-female 'divide'.