

Keywords: media and journalism theory, comparative media and journalism studies, media research, content analysis and discourse analysis, media and communication in transition societies, China, Central and Eastern Europe, post-Soviet media, post-communism, media pluralism and diversity, environmental sustainability and media/journalism, media and religion, curriculum development

Dr. Miklos Sukosd, a Senior Fellow at MDI, is a media researcher and university professor with 20 years of experience in media and journalism education at globally leading universities.

Miklos was Associate Professor at the Journalism and Media Studies Centre at the University of Hong Kong (2009—2013). He also served as Associate Professor at the Department of Political Science, Central European University (1996—2009) and as Academic Director at the Center for Media and Communication Studies, Central European University (2004—2009). Miklos holds a Ph.D. in Political Science from the Hungarian Academy of Sciences, and an M.A. in Sociology from Harvard University.

He has published over 20 books, and many journal articles and book chapters about media and politics, and received several awards, grants and scholarships in media research and journalism.

Miklos Sukosd's CV